

The living room has the signature wall of glass looking out to the back yard. Stained wood roof decking with contrasting white beams along with the light colored carpet give the room a modern yet natural ambience perfect for connecting to an outdoor paradise.

The adjacent traditional galley kitchen has earth toned tile counter tops and back-splash. A wall rising barely above counter level separates the kitchen from the dining room.

At the front of the house is a spacious family room, one of the unique attractions of this house. Spacious enough for a family area, a dining area, a refreshment bar, and a bath it provides many opportunities for different uses.

The three bedrooms, in classic Eichler style, are situated on the side of the house opposite the public rooms. The master bedroom has a wall of glass including a sliding glass door leading out to the back yard.

All three bedrooms have carpeted floors.
